We are enthusiastic to share the news!

ITA Airways' first Airbus A330neo with blue livery

ITA Airways' first Airbus A330-900 with new blue livery has been moved out of the hangar at the Airbus Final Assembly Line in Toulouse today. It bears the name of Gelindo Bordin, Olympic champion in Seoul 1988 and the first Italian gold medalist in the five-ring marathon.

The introduction of the Airbus A330neo in ITA Airways' fleet will be another important step toward sustainability. Lighter, quieter, and more efficient, the new A330neo will benefit from a 25% reduction in fuel consumption and CO2 emissions per seat compared to previous generation aircraft.

The A330neo will join the fleet in the summer to serve ITA Airways' long-haul routes and new intercontinental destinations.
